CAPTAIN'S COMMENTS:
 All our pins are returning with includes Jordan Cooper, Micheal Stahl, and Ben Webber. We also return all three middles that were in rotation last year Borris Horiuk, Parker Brown, and Matthew Wilcox. As far as new recruits we have a juco transfer from Moorpark that is playing Libero for us. Bradon Gonzales, who played at Springfield his freshman year is a solid addition for us. And lastly our setter situation is still up in the air. Right now we have two Freshman setters battling it out Keaton Hendry and Gavin Galanski. It will probably switch throughout the year. As far as other recruits, I'm not sure if anyone else will be in the rotation as of now.

COMMENTS:
 The 2024 D3 Champs are looking to repeat and have accumulated 4 transfers and 8 new freshman to help them do that. They lose both Taylor and Logan Marks to Jessup University D2. Losing one of the best setters and best liberos in the country is a major setback but almost all of the other key pieces remain in place on a team that had an absolutely magical run at the end of the season. Seniors Jordan Cooper, Ben Weber and Michael Stahl are all continuing for a fifth season with the Kingsmen. The big question for Cal Lutheran will come at setter where they will in all probability deploying a freshman in the role. The attack will be solid as they return 87% of their kills and 74% of their blocks. Their returning stats percentages are high as well on aces and serve receive. The success of this years squad will rely on just how quickly a freshman setter and a new libero can adapt. The Kingsmen's Pins and Middles combination are certainly one of the best in the country. 6' 10" MB Borys Horiuk had 81 total blocks last season and we expect Cal Lutheran to have great success putting back attacks. The team has strong size and has actually gotten younger with the new recruit additions despite three players in year 5. The returning champs get a #9 rating in our calibrated updated rankings but could certainly end higher than that with their overall talent level.
