COMMENTS FROM COACH:

Players to lookout for, Libero Kaeden Noble, Outside Hitters Jack Rutkowski and Michael Cummins, and Middle Blockers Dom Wheaton and Colin Mendoza. Kaeden is coming back this year with some international experience with the D3 select team and so many more of the guys came back this fall already in mid season shape. Leaving the CVC to join the newly formed ODAC will be a welcomed change of scenery and we are looking to be very competitive in our new conference. In our third year as a program we are wanting to continue to improve as we did last season. Hopefully eclipsing the 20 win mark.

IH COMMENTS:

Roanoke continues to grow their roster and fuel their large freshman class in the year the program started. 12 juniors are on the team and represent the original class when the program originated 3 years ago. Kaeden Noble continues to grow as his college career progresses. He has displayed the talent of a defensive player in the top 10% in the country. This team had well over 200 blocks last season and retains 93% of that stat going forward into 2025. We expect them to be strong on the net and powerful on their attacks. Getting out of the CVC will be a good thing for the Maroons with less travel, local rivalries, and not having to play teams like SVU, Juniata, Marymount and Rutgers unless they want to. We also expect them to be very competitive with Eastern Mennonite and Randolph Macon as they battle for a conference title. Next year will be another year for Roanoke to shine as they do not have a senior on this team. Serve receive is adequate but the Maroons need to concentrate on improving their hitting percentage to compete with the big boys. IH recognizes the Maroons in the Top 30 in the country and will need to prove their worth as a top 20 team. Their schedule should facilitate a nice winning record despite playing SVU twice. And one more item... the Cregger Center is one of the best facilities for volleyball in the country. To train, to play, and to watch games. It's an easy college to fall in love with as it has a beautiful campus and top of the line facilities.
